Tomorrow's Olympians

Champions

It was a day that brought forth champions. As trumpets called athletes to the field of competition, onlookers hurried to get a first look at the competitors marching in groups and displaying their team colors.

Skies that had threatened rain all week shone clear, without traces of rain or smog. Weeks of training were coming to completion. Coaches and spectators felt the athletes' mounting apprehension.

As far as the athletes were concerned, it was all part of the olympic spirit.

Marching into this preview of the 1984 Los Angeles Summer Games were the champions of tomorrow — first through third graders at Upland Elementary School.

As far as champions go, the competitors gathered on the field seemed pretty scrawny. Each one attempted to march to the field with a vigor beffiting their role as Olympians. But the strides of these junior Olympians soon fell out of step with the march music.

At the field, parents cupped their eyes for a glimpse at their children marching behind the flag. The youngsters' eyes widened as they caught sight of the multi-colored balloons anchored near the Olympic flame.

As kindergarten students from Ruth Heise's class ran across the field, bringing the makeshift torch closer to its resting place high atop a plastic column, other children cheered. As it was placed on an electric wok borrowed from someone's kitchen for the games, the crowd joined in the roaring cheers.

The neatly combed and almost perfectly parted heads of hair would soon give way to a unkept, beaten look. As the theme from "Chariots of Fire" helped to bring the torch to its resting place, the children braced themselves for the onslought of the competiton.

With a cry of "Let the game begin," and the release of the group of balloons, the kids prepared to vent their energy into the events — beginning with the obstacle course and finishing with the a sprint race.

In between, the youngsters faced tough rounds of long distance running, a hotly contested wheel barrow race, a bean bag throw and even an old-fashioned three-legged race.

If the Olympic motto is "Faster, Higher, Braver," then the motto of the junior sports day most likely should have been:"Almost, Nearly, Try again."

Everyone almost finished, nearly won and were encouraged to keep trying.

The Junior Olympic's ceremonies at Upland Elementary began in true olympic fashion last week. A torch with paper flames was carried by students through the playground until it reached its resting place in a wok borrowed for the games. Third grader Lisa Nollola (above) *ran the last leg. of Tomorrow ...

Champs aren't made overnight. And, to support this, teacher/coaches stood close by to give subtle and even not so subtle words of encouragement. Parents were on hand to augment that, dishing out plaudits and tissues in equal amounts.

The school's annual sports day was organized several years ago by teachers Natelie Cruzen and Barbara Teglas. The teachers said they instituted the sports day so the kids could have fun and learn a little sportsmanship while they were at it. This year's festivities coincided with Cruzen's retirement, another milestone observed during the opening ceremonies.

Teglas shrugged as she tried to find a reason behind the day's activities.

"Just to get the kids involved and just to have fun,"she explained. "It's good public relations ... something (that) the parents can come to and enjoy."

Teglas turned to mark down the results from a finished race. "That was a close one," she admitted.

Preparations for the races included stretching sore muscles and re-tying sneakers. A coach's job is never done.

As kindergarten students made their way around the track during the second heat of the long distance (880 yards) run, eager first graders sized up their chances for their run for the blue ribbon.

"That's a long way to go," admitted first grader Shawn Fyfe, to a friend.

"Not for me,"his brave friend replied. "I'd zoom over there ..."

As it turned out, Shawn was right. Despite being entered in separate heats, Shawn did better than his friend. They were both edged out by Sabrina Porter — proving, of course, that sports day knows no sex barriers. At least for first graders.

In one of the second grade races, competition became so intense that a shoe came flying off. It took a while before the shoe and its owner were reunited for a happy ending.

Principal Dave Bardin presided quietly in the background of the games, beaming at his students' successes. It seemed to him that nearly everyone was a winner.

Bardin reflected that this had been a particularly good year for sports at the elementary school. He said that the school had ended a long losing streak at a recent Kiwanis-sponsored track meet.

"We had several good placements," the principal recalled. "So the kids are saying 'we can win.'

"If they get a good feeling about their school and think 'we can win,' then that's good," Bardin concluded.

Downfield, teacher Susan Cass was trying to beef up her kindergartner's waning enthusiasm.

"You're not a good cheering section," Cass reminded them, as fellow competitors were falling over each other in a heated wheel barrow race.

But the kindergartners attention span was coming to a quick close. Emcee Teglas seemed to emphathize with them to some degree.

"This is a long morning for them," she told a parent, who was standing near her microphone.

As a group of students fell their way across the finish line of the last heat of the wheel barrow race, one spectator found herself smiling uncontrollably at the results.

"Even grandmothers get excited,"said Mary Meyer, whose grandson Neil Meyer had just one a first place ribbon.

"Wait till we get to the third graders,"Meyer said. "I'll go crazy." □

Guys in black hats want new image

By Chris Keating

Charles Rue of Upland spends much of his working week trying to achieve recognition for one of the largest segments of the nation's business community — the American manager.

As chairman of the board of the National Management Association (NMA), Rue is involved in promoting and sparking interest in management as a profession. Not unlike union organizers of a generation ago, NMA's officers and staff are knocking on doors of companies, meeting managers and executives, encouraging them to consider the benefits of joining the organization. With an estimated 15 million managers in the U.S. alone, Rue sees that as a formidable task.

"There are a lot of managers who are not aware (of NMA)," acknowledged Rue, manager of business administration for General Dynamics in Pomona.

Part of NMA's strategy to introduce their organization to management is the annual "Management Week in America," which ended June 9 and was sponsored by NMA and 17 other national management organizations. During that week, the organization's 68,850 members and 250 company chapters attempted to draw attention to managers and management as a profession.

A highlight of this year's annual week was the naming of President Reagan as the first "American Manager of the Year."

In an Oval Office ceremony May 31, Rue presented Reagan with a plaque on behalf of NMA and its co-sponsoring organizations. Rue called the ceremony a "milestone" for NMA and managers in general.

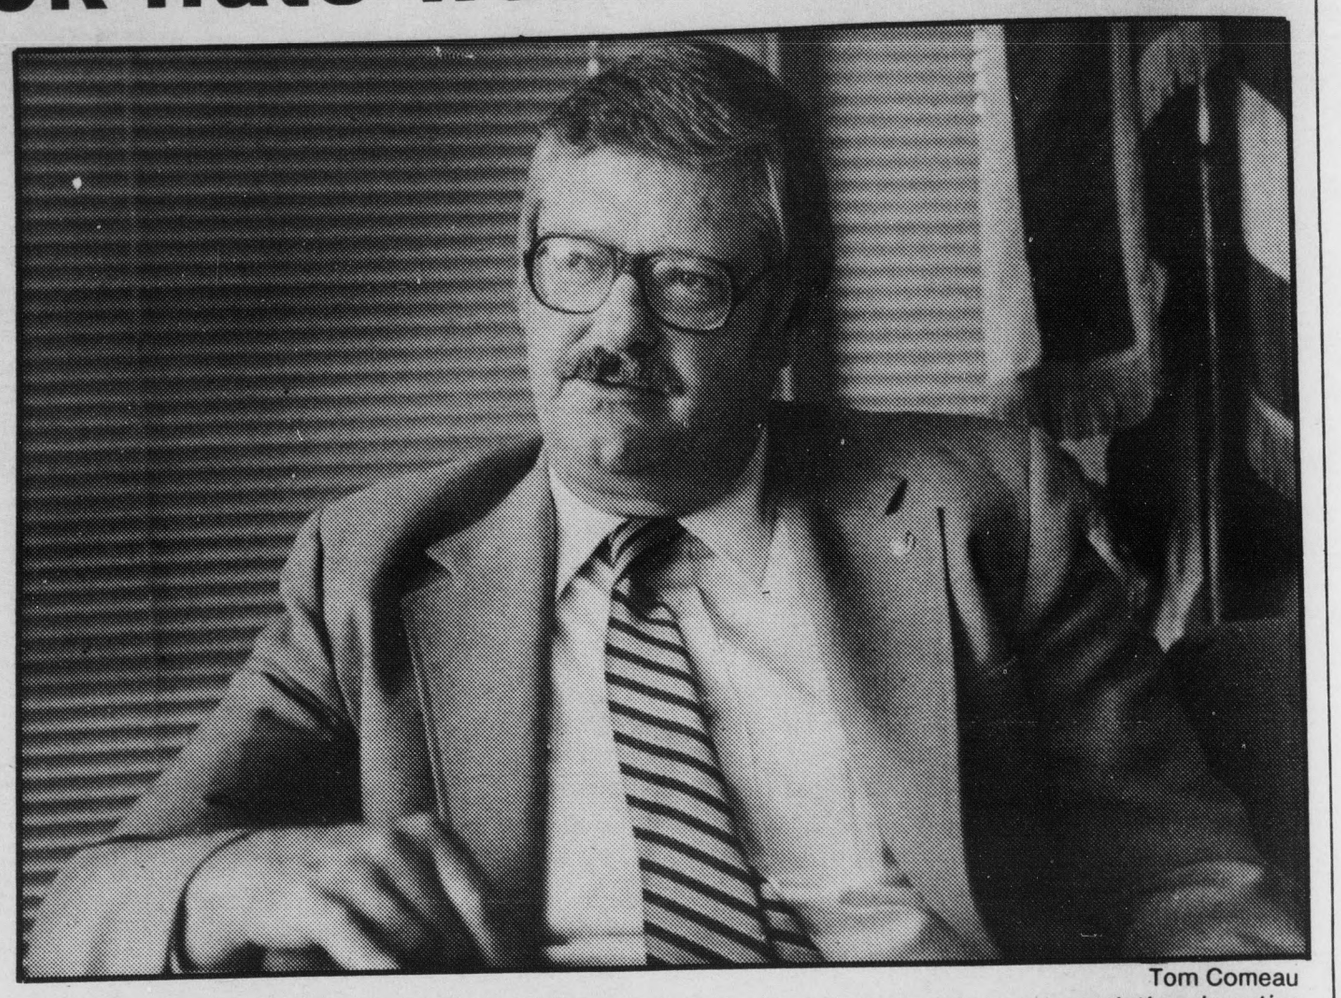

"It's going to show others that we're (NMA) serious about management as a profession."

Rue believes management has been depicted as wearing the black hat too often, and that managers actually play a significant role in the nation's economy.

"I think that labor and labor unions have held the limelight for a long time," Rue said. "Management was always put up as the bad guys."

He feels, however, that things are turning around for managers and that management will have a big part to play as the country seeks to regain its productivity edge over other nations.

"We have got to do things that will cause our productivity to increase," Rue said. "And management will be involved with this."

Tom Comeau

Upland resident Charles Rue, chairman of the board of the National Management Association, is active in promoting management as a profession. NMA, which has nearly 70,000 members, encourages recognition for the estimated 15 million American managers. Rue's involvement with NMA began at the organization's General Dynamics chapter.

Part of training professional managers, Rue said, is a certification program similar in intent to the certification that an accountant receives. Called the certified manager program, the designation demonstrates a level of qualification for a manager.

Earning the designation involves a combination of education and testing achievement. According to Rue, NMA has been active in promoting the certified manager program.

Local government is beginning to get involved with NMA as well. Rue said the city managers of Upland, Montclair, Ontario and Chino are interested in forming a chapter for their management-level employees.

The structure of an NMA chapter is similar to that of a company, Rue explained. In larger chapters (General Dynamics is the fifth largest chapter in the organization, with 1,600 members), the organization reflects a corporate nature, with a chairman of the board working with a board of directors within an extensive corporate structure. Because of NMA's organizational style, Rue believes a manager can improve his management style in a "safe" environment.

"Chapter presidents can do a lousy job as president and not have it affect his job," Rue said. And, he said, NMA provides resources for training that even companies can not afford to provide.

Beyond management development, Rue said NMA also provides a social network and the ability to "interface with managers from all over the United States."

"You can't help but to learn from these

LIBRARY NEWS

By Maureen Bartolotta
Children's Librarian

It can be a very frustrating experience to visit the library anxiously searching for something good to read and find that everything you're interested in is already checked out, and on top of that, there's a waiting list for those titles.

Many people religiously read the weekly best-seller lists and set out for the library with only those titles in mind. But what about all those other books sitting on the shelves — they must have been popular at some time. It's often hard to find something of interest in the stacks when there are so many to choose from.

We have several sources which are designed to access titles in a way our catalog can't. While there are comparable sources in both the fiction and non-fiction areas, I'd like to highlight some of the more interesting fiction ones.

Fiction Catalog includes 5,056 titles of interest to adult readers. It is arranged by author, with a separate title and subject index. It includes out-of-print titles and is updated by an annual supplement. It is an excellent place to find all the works by a specific author or books on a specific topic. It can also be helpful if you've enjoyed reading about a particular time period or place and would like to explore it further. Most entries include a brief critical analysis of the work.

Genreflecting is an excellent source for genre lovers. Westerns, thriller, romances, science fiction, mysteries, fantasy, and horror are all discussed. Each genre is examined by theme and type. For example, science fiction themes include hard science, new wave, ESP and space travel. A fan of any of these would find suggested titles as well as general discussions. One of the best uses for this book is for the people who "...want to read exchanges with other people," he said.

After completing his year of service as chairman of the board, Rue will move on to other responsibilities within the NMA organization, including chairing next year's management week in America. This year caps seven years of involvement with NMA. Ironically, Rue wasn't all that sure he wanted to join NMA at first.

"Back in 1977, I had a phone call from the plant chairperson, who asked me if I would run for vice-chairman at General Dynamics," Rue recounted. His initial hesitancy was overcome when he learned that his opponent was an NMA veteran with more experience in the chapter.

To his astonishment, Rue won. Shortly afterward, there came a point when he "laid out plans" to become national chairman.

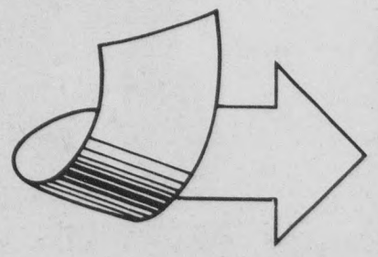

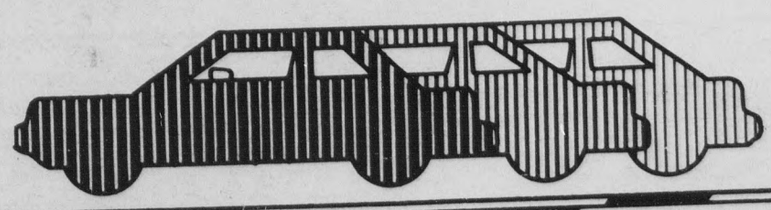

An affable man, Rue understands the varied problems a manager encounters. He sees management as a profession that requires two main talents — "patience and understanding."

"If you understand people, you aren't going to get frustrated because you know what's going to happen," Rue said. □

Students 'injure' themselves for test

For a few hours last Friday, the normally tranquil streets of Upland were transformed into a scene resembling the set for a Hollywood disaster film.

Makeup was skillfully applied to "victims" recruited by local public agencies — transforming their normal appearance into a macabre mixture of trauma cases. A little "blood" was added to the scene here and there to make it look more realistic, changing those present into bloodied, contorted images straight from a disaster movie.

Actually, it was all for a test. And for the 29 students Andrew Hernandez' fifth grade class at Upland Elementary School, it was a test that they were more than happy to take.

Hernandez' students were participants in a mock earthquake, a drill planned by the city of Upland. Organized by the fire department, the drill included other public agencies and private firms. It was held north of Ninth Street and between First and Second avenues.

Besides providing a break from school work, the morning's mock earthquake proved instructional to the students, most of whom were probably too young to recall major disasters

Back in school, the students reflected on the mock disaster.

"If we did have a large earthquake, and you were hurt, would you feel confortable that they (firemen) would do something to help?"inquired Hernandez.

A sea of arms, most still red with dye, waved in the air acknowledging an affirmative response to the teacher's question.

But most of the fifth graders seemed more intent on showing their souvenirs from the day's simulation, which was supposed to imitate what would happen during a large-scale temblor.

"My eye was sticking out of my head," said Tom Bruno, in a manner similar to a soldier remembering his battlefield injury. "And I had a hemorrhage, too."

A simulated collapse of a building with 65 people trapped inside was part of the disaster.

Like his classmates, Bruno was in the house that the firemen collasped when the earthquake hit. A piece of metal "fell" on him, causing severe trauma to his eye, as indicated by the paper tag given to him when the drill began.

"It was a lot of fun," Bruno said. But he added, "It was sort of gooey. They put a lot of blood around."

The day wasn't as much fun for Bruno's classmate, Gerry Rosillo, whose wrist tag declared he was dead.

Lying on the street, listening to his friends scream for help and attention from the paramedics who were aiding victims, Rosillo figured out how he would help in a real emergency.

"I'd try to help calm them in case they (victims) were crying," said Rosillo.

Some of the instructions given to the students by those assisting in the drill may have seemed a bit different than those they normally receive while in school.

"The lady who put on the makeup told me to scream for help," said Jamie Shannon, who "suffered" a broken shoulder and hand, among other injuries.

Injured students were transported to local hospitals by bus or by ambulance according to the nature of their injuries.

For some, the ride to the hospital was welcome relief to the hot sun on their dyed arms and legs.

The drill flagged one concern for Hernandez. He remarked that he was "surprised" none of the emergency personnel present was bilingual. When one of his non-English speaking students was approached by a fireman, a more-or-less comical dialogue ensued.

The teacher remained optimistic, however, that his students learned how to handle themselves in a disaster situation.

"I hope you guys learned more than how to put on makeup," quipped Hernandez.

"It taught us that firemen just don't put out fires,"said Bruno.

Most of Hernandez' students found the experience was more than just a morning away from studies. Beyond the makeup and the bandages, some students could see the educational value of the drill.

"I think it was educational," said Max Elam, "because if this thing really happens, then I'll know what to do."

Elam doesn't seem eager to implement his newly acquired skills.

"I hope it never happens,"he concluded. □

Delta Theta Chi sorority chapter to hold annual installation dinner

Upsilon Chapter of Delta Theta Chi sorority will hold its installation dinner at 6:30 on June 14 at the home of Dorothy Gunn of Upland.

Installed will be Berniece Johnson, Pomona, president; Alice Crabtree, Redlands, vice president; Ruby Nicholson, Alta Loma, educational director; Bette Mathews, Pomona, recording secretary; Gunn, Upland, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Triplett, Montclair, treasurer; and Crystal Rogers, Huntington Beach, sargeant-at-arms.

New members Norma Randall of Upland and Betty Corwin of Ontario were previously accepted for membership in a recognition ceremony conducted by Crabtree.

Their pledging ceremony will be conducted at the installation dinner.

Marjorie Wilcox will conduct the installation of officers ceremony.

Nursery school students to receive their graduation diplomas during ceremonies

Local children will participate in the combination nursery-kindergarten graduation exercises at Forrest Day School in Montclair, June 15.

Nursery children graduating into fall kindergarten classes include Upland residents Melissa Culotta, Meesha Doss, Eddie Emilian, Matthew Fenner, Angie Kurugian, Bill Pachaeco, Amber Sexton, Shari Tyson, Lisa Joy Wojcik and Harry Wright.

Kindergarten children graduating into first grade are Yubrano Alvarez, Reginald Kelly and Stephanie Kurugian from Upland and Jared Rivera from Alta Loma.

Theme of the program to be presented at the ceremony is "A Year to Grow" and children from all grades will participate.

The musical portion of the program is under the direction of the grade school director, Eileen

Local cultural center to note volunteerism

The Chaffey Communities Cultural Center will honor its volunteers, who have donated several thousands of hours to keep the museum operating, on Sunday at 1 p.m.

Donating more than 500 hours are Cornelia Born, Phil Born, Beverly Chappel, Ada Cooper, Joella Gingerrich, Eunice Mitchell, Beatrice Riggs, Alberta Schaefer, Dorothy Showalter, Hazel Sutton and Winifred Vernor.

Donating close to 500 hours of service are: Ruth Crutchfield, Paula Kamin, Dr. William King, Lynn Merrill, Margaret Reed, Bert Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Horton Swisher, Billie Thompson, Max Van Balgooy and Esie Jean Warner.

Alberta Schaefer will receive a special tribute for her work in developing the collection of history in the Model Colony Room of the Ontario Public Library and for her life dedicated to community service.

Chaffey Communities Cultural Center has been open for 18 years and has catalogued more than 8,000 items. Since it opened, more than 50,000 people have visited the museum.

Future plans for the museum include an exhibit hall for the items now in storage and the Implement Patio is under construction.

The center has been built and operated solely through the efforts of the volunteers and membership is open to everyone.

It is located at 525 W. 18th St. in Upland.

Instructor is accepted

Gail Theurer, Chaffey College language arts instructor, has been accepted by the Goethe Institute in West Germany to study and experience German culture for three weeks this summer.

The Goethe Institute, funded by the Federal Republic of Germany, has invited 30 German instructors from the United States, Canada and Europe to participate this summer.

The seminar includes lectures, excursions to historical and cultural sites, street interviews with local people and interviews with various government, media and education officials.

Following the three-week seminar, participants will have a five-day excursion in Berlin, both west and east. The goal of the program is to give German language instructors opportunities to update their language, knowledge and experience of German culture.

This is the second such seminar in which Theurer has taken part. She attended a previous seminar also sponsored by the Goethe Institute in 1980.

Coin group has strategy

The Upland Coin Club will hold its next meeting on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Magnolia Recreationa Center, 651 W. 15th St., Upland.

Featured speaker for the evening is Tom Davis, account executive at EF Hutton and Company, Inc. Topic for the meeting is "Investment Strategies for the 1980's."

Davis will give an overview of the various types of investments available in today's markets. He will talk about investment pyramids, limited partnerships, IRA accounts, new investment options including index options, interest rate futures as well as safe and speculative investments.

The public is invited to attend.

The Upland Coin Club meets the third Saturday of each month at Magnolia Center and hosts a guest speaker at each meeting. Membership is open to anyone interested in coin collecting.

For more information about the organization write the club at P.O. Box 63, Upland, Calif. 91786 or call 984-9698 after 3 p.m.

Students deck the halls even if it isn't Christmas

By Terri Tirella

Decking the halls of Rancho Cucamonga Middle School is a special kind of art work.

It's not exactly the Louvre in Paris, and it's not what you might find in Pasadena's Norton Simon Museum, but it's all carefully crafted by the students who populate the school.

Everything from tie-dyed tapestries to three-dimensional ceramic murals can be found displayed throughout the school, along with soft-sculptures, glass etchings and quilted wall hangings.

Projects range in size from 8-by-11-inches to 5 or 6 feet. Some are individual efforts, others are results of teamwork.

The driving force behind this creativity is art teacher Roberta "Robbie" Waldman.

Waldman has been teaching in the district for 13 years, first at Los Amigos Elementary and then at the middle school. She has the enthusiasm of a first- or second-year teacher and is excited about her students and her subject.

"Students can take two years of art and never repeat a project," Waldman said. "I never repeat (a project) because I don't want to get bored."

Waldman teaches everything from textile and fiber classes to calligraphy. In her textile class, students "do everything with cloth, from using fibers in basket weaving to silk screening."

One of her regrets is "I don't get to keep any of the good works," she lamented.

Waldman is also active in a district-wide art program. "I wrote the curriculum for the arts in the district ... art is one of the basic foundations (for learning), learning colors and shapes is the start of reading," she said.

"Kids here have better math and reading scores because of the art program," Waldman said.

All Rancho Cucamonga Middle School students must take Art I, a beginning class. Waldman said she starts with the basic concepts and incorporates art history into the art lesson.

"In the beginning, it's frustrating; kids say they can't do it," she said.

"Then they begin learning to use their eyes, to look and study, and soon they start saying 'I can do it, I will do it.' It's (drawing) a matter of concentration, everyone can draw."

She said she uses lots of examples but encourages her students not to copy.

"I have (designed) projects so kids will find success," she said.

Waldman said she starts with basic

Students discover their own talents

concepts in the beginning art class and builds on that. "They find out there is method in my madness."

"Each project is more rewarding, and so they see the growth as they build on the (basic) elements and principles and there is a big improvement," she said.

Absenteeism is not a problem for Waldman. "Kids are encouraged to come to school ... I have few problems with behavior."

Working in groups on a project is another situation Waldman provides her students.

She said she designs the project to make it as similar to a work-situation as possible. "They learn cooperation, getting along with each other, working with others," she said.

Waldman gets most of the materials for her art projects at no cost to the district.

"I'm a good scavenger. I get things donated, visit merchants and tell friends not to throw anything away."

Some materials Waldman can't get donated are costly, like the acid for the glass etchings students make. Also, good quality water color paper is priced too high for her slim budget.

One complaint she has is her classroom. It is small and has no air conditioning or ventilation.

"Robbie does an excellent job," Principal David Hendricks said.

He described Waldman as a packrat. "She finds certain things and has us saving things and saves things on her own for art projects," Hendricks said.

He said her classroom was actually to be an extension to additional construction. "The size is not conducive to what she would like to do," Hendricks said. "but they (her students) still do nice work."

The art projects hanging in the school halls are rarely disturbed. "Fortunately, students have enough respect for Mrs. Waldman and her students that they leave them (the art projects) alone ... we don't have a lot of graffiti," he said.

He said students in the basic drawing class develop a lot of self-pride in what they create.

"I've seen students go into her (beginning art) class and develop some talent they never knew they had, that's kind of neat to see," he said. □

College official attends management seminar

Erma Welsh, director of Chaffey Extended College, is attending the Management of Lifelong Education (MLE) program this month at the Harvard University Graduate School of Education.

Welsh is the only woman from Southern California to receive a MLE scholarship. She was recommended for the scholarship by college superintendent/ president Samuel Ferguson based on her leadership capabilities and commitment to higher education.

"I am really happy to have received this scholarship because it is in an area in which I am very strongly committed," she said. "More importantly, it allows me to set an example of the kind of role model other Hispanics, especially women can follow."

Welsh is also Southern California coordinator for President Reagan's initiative in support of women in business, In addition to her full-time more books like Stephen King writes... ." A quick look at the horror section suggests other authors and titles.

Traveler's Reading Guides is a very convenient source for those who want to do background reading on a particular country. It includes fiction as well as nonfiction. However, it is especially useful in the fiction area. Many people like to read novels about an area before they travel there in order to get a flavor for the people and places they'll visit. Arranged by country, it lists and briefly describes each title. We have the volume which covers Europe, with the other two volumes currently on order.

A Reader's Guide to Fantasy and A Reader's Guide to Science Fiction are two comprehensive sources for those interested in those areas. Each title is geared for either the newcomer who wants to know where to start or the devotee who needs to know what to read next. Each includes hundreds of titles, including past award winners. Both are fun to read and provide a great deal of information.

Murder Ink and it's companion Murderess Ink are invaluable sources for the mystery fan. These are indescribable books that go beyond listing good mysteries. A look at the table of contents for Murder Ink shows articles on The History of the Trench Coat, Collecting Detective Fiction, The Miss Marple Look-Alike Contest and Books by Crooks. Both titles are treasure troves of information and insanity that could only be appreciated by a hardcore crime buff.

A few other titles aimed at those who can never get enough of books or book-lore include: The Book Book which is a compendium of lists, quizzes and trivia about books. Whether you're a fan of detective stories, an armchair traveler, or a connoisseur of the classics, it will recommend a selection of books; Good Books is a perfect source if you want to know the best books on slavery, tennis, or lonliness. The author recommends and reviews thousands of good books in every subject area and is a good companion for a book-lover; Books That Made The Difference includes the responses of 200 people to the questions: What book made the greatest difference in your life? And what was that difference? Sponsored by the Center for the Book in the Library of Congress, this book was intended to demonstrate the tremendous influence of reading. Alan Alda, Woody Hayes and Studs Terkel are among those who reveal the books and milestones in their lives.

With the availability of these sources, and a staff willing to help, evryone should be leaving the Upland Public Library with lots of good reading material.

as one of the oldest and most prestigious national organizations for secondary students. Chapters exist in three-fourths of the nation's seconrdary schools and since 1921, more than a million students have been selected for membership.

Reading champions at Sycamore

Sycamore School in Upland has been named top school in the Inland Counties area Reading Champions Program for March of Dimes.

More than 100 Sycamore students read 2,483 books and raised more than $1,500 for the prevention of birth defects.

William Smith, principal of the school, predicated that Sycamore would win the top honor last September when he first scheduled the school presentations. This is the second time Sycamore has taken the first place honor.

During the 1981-82 school year, Sycamore also placed first in the two county area. Nearly 70 schools participated in the 1983-84 school term.

Laura Angle, a 5-year-old kindergarten student, was Sycamore's top student reader, having read a total of 105 books. Laura received a trophy marking her membership in the hundred book club, a special designation for any student who reads 100 or more books.

The Reading Champions Program promotes good reading habits, emphasizing reading for enjoyment, according to Smith.

Students register and secure pledges from close friends and relatives for each book the read within a one-month period. Newspaper articles and magazine stories are also acceptable as well as stories they read to younger students.

Funds raised in the Reading Champions Program are used to probide public education and professional training, scientific research and medical and community services.

An Ounce of Prevention...

A woman walks alone through a park at dusk and, suddenly, a man jumps out from behind a building to attack her.

She doesn't know what to do to defend herself during the struggle. She only knows that she lost the battle. She's been raped.

The physical and psychological pain connected with the attack that follows could lead to a fear of going anywhere alone, according to Fred Drury, a Rancho Cucamonga marriage and family therapist.

To help prevent the above scenario, a unique rape prevention course is being offered at the Rancho Cucamonga Neighborhood Center, 9791 Arrow Highway.

Tammy Tate, 23, teaches the self-defense course which provides women an opportunity to actually practice their newly acquired techniques outdoors — with simulated attackers.

"Rapes don't usually occur in air-conditioned buildings. They usually occur outdoors," explains Tate when asked why her class begins practices in the center and then moves to parking lots and local park areas.

In the course, which meets 7-7:50 p.m. Tuesdays, the students also learn to defend themselves against an attacker while carrying a baby.

However, for practice purposes, Teddy bears are used in substitution of infants.

Students learn to use their knees and elbows, to kick to defend themselves.

As students practice during one session, Tate emphasizes another technique — yelling.

"You need to learn how to yell. It's one of the best things you have. Yelling is not difficult to do," stresses Tate.

For some students, Tate says practicing self-defense is not an easy thing. She cites as an example the high drop-out rate of her class.

She lost half her class in the span of the first three weeks of the scheduled 10-week course.

"We all want to to think it's not going to happen to us. Some have problems dealing with it," she says.

Rancho Cucamonga resident Pam Drye is among those taking Tate's course. Drye explains she decided to take the class because "I'm small. I've been stuck on the freeway. When I was in Maryland, I had two drunks stop to help me. Since then I've had a couple of car breakdowns and I take a lot of night classes."

Drye says she feels the $15 spent on the course is the best life insurance policy she has ever purchased.

"My body and flexiblility are better. She has taught us how to take care of ourselves. I have a fair chance. I may not kill them, but I may run away. I feel better now. We've learned to hit them in the vulnerable spots," says Drye.

Simone Meyer, 31, says she brings her 5-year-old son with her to the class so he can see that she can take care of herself.

"It's a real confidence builder. We were embarrassed by our own voices. I'm a single mother and I've been so fearful so I decided to do something about it," explains Meyer.

Tate says her goals in the course are to make students more aware of their environment and how to defend themselves while teaching mechanical and psychological self-defense.

I try to teach them to look through their home when they come home at night and lock their car doors and close the windows in their home, she says.

Tate says she also tries to help her students understand rape.

"Most rapes occur by people that you know in some way. It's really hard to hurt someone that you know. In each situation, they're (the women) going to decide what they will do," says Tate. "I hope none of them are ever attacked."

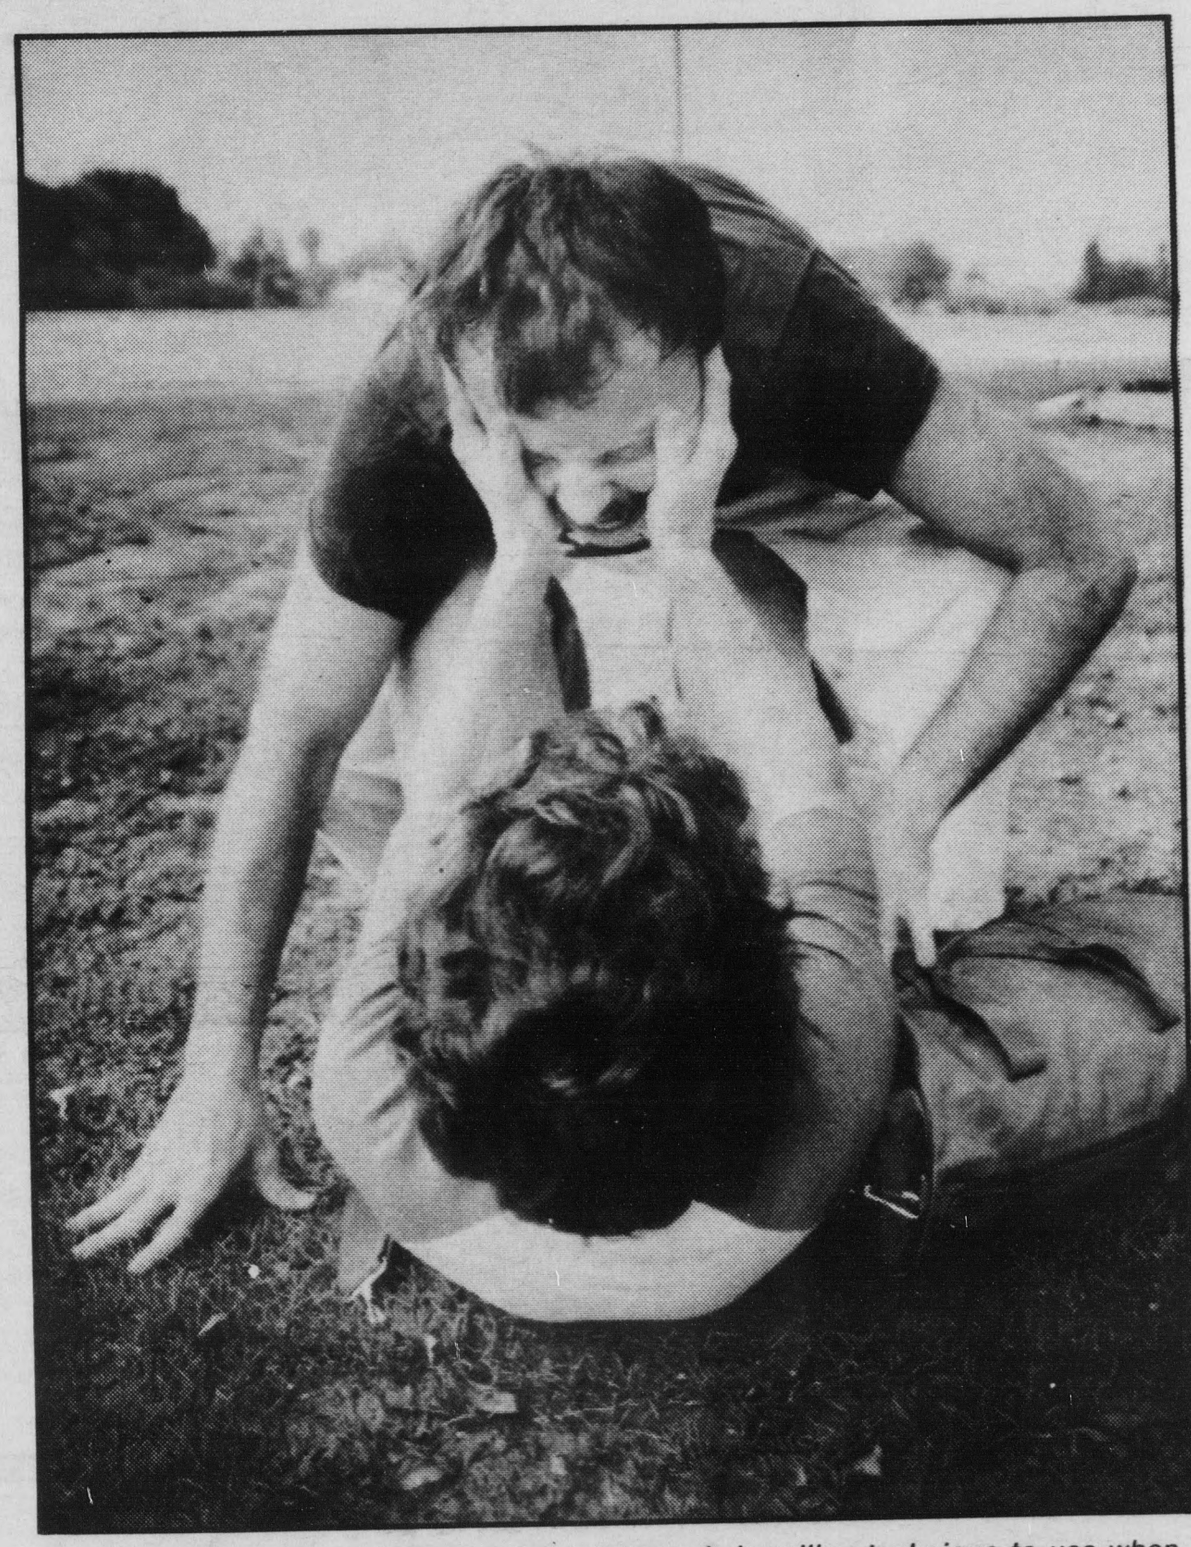

Last year there were 17 reported rapes in Rancho Cucamonga, according to Sgt. Ray Dahlegren of the Rancho Cucamonga Sheriff's Station.

Two have been reported in the city this year.

San Bernardino County saw an increase in rapes last year over 1982. Last year, 161 forcible rapes were reported in comparison with the 150 reported the year before, according to Jim Bryant, public information officer for the sheriff's department.

The counties of Los Angeles, Orange, and Riverside reported a decline in the number of rapes. San Bernardino and San Diego counties reported increases.

Tate's next course begins June 25.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Water Treatment Change May Affect You

On November 1, 1984, Metropolitan Water District will change the disinfectant used to purify water. The new purification additive will impact most tropical fish dealers and hobbyists, kidney dialysis patients and some industrial and manufacturing processes in the district's 5200-square-mile service area.

Through its member agencies, Metropolitan supplies supplemental water is nearly 13 million Southern Californians living in Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino and San Diego counties. After November 1 these areas will be receiving water disinfected with chloramines, rather than chlorine, which is being used now.

The change is being made in response to a federal water quality regulation that limits the amount of trihalomethanes (THMs) in municipal water supplies. Chlorine can react with naturally occurring organics in water to form THMs, a suspected carcinogen. Portions of San Diego County and the city of Long Beach already have begun treating their water supplies with chloramines.

Because chloramines are toxic to fish, hobbists are advised to contact their pet supply dealers for information about removing the disinfectant from water before it is placed into aquariums or fish ponds. Kidney dialysis patients should contact their doctors about the effects of chloramines on the dialysis treatment process. Similarly, some industries may need to make modifications in their manufacturing processes or water pretreatment systems.

Your local water agency can tell you if you will be affected by this change. Further information about chloramines can e obtained by calling Metropolitan's toll-free hotline, 1 (800) C-A-L-L-M-W-D

Hearing Test Set For Senior Citizens

(Ontario)-Free electronic hearing tests will be given at the Beltone Hearing Aid Center Office at 608 N. Euclid, Ontario on Monday & Tuesday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have the test. Many people with hearing problems don't need hearing aids. But only a modern hearing test like the one now being offered by Beltone can really tell for sure. Licensed Hearing aid Dispensers will conduct the tests.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test to see if modern methods of hearing amplification can help them hear better. Hearing aids will be available for purchase.

Hearing is a family matter so please bring your husband or wife with you if possible

The free hearing tests will be given Monday and Tuesday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., 608 N. Euclid, Ontario. To avoid waiting call 984-2248 for an appointment. If you can't get there on Monday or Tuesday, call to arrange for an appointment at another time. In-home testing is also available.

Gillispie torch carrier in Upland

By DENNIS ARP

For Randy Gillispie, running a kilometer is hardly a struggle. The Alta Loma resident runs as many as 10 miles a day. Every day.

But come July, when Gillispie accepts a 22-inch torch from another runner and advances it a little more than six-tenths of a mile through Upland, he'll be running a kilometer to remember. He'll be helping to bring the Olympics to Los Angeles.

Gillispie will be part of the circuitous cross-country relay that is bringing the Olympic Flame from the Altar of Zeus in Olympia, Greece, to the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the 1984 Summer Games.

Yes, this is a special kilometer.

"I'm very excited," said the 23-year-old Gillispie. "I'm even going to have a friend videotape it for me. It's a special privilege that few people can afford."

'I've gotten jokes about catching my hair on fire or falling and breaking my leg, but I don't think it'll be a problem.'

At $3,000 a kilometer, the cost is out of most people's price range. But it isn't out of Wells Fargo Bank's. Gillispie's employer bought 20 kilometers from the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee (the money goes to charity) and a company-wide drawing was held.

Gillispie, a general ledger clerk with Wells Fargo's Santa Ana Service Center, was one of the winners.

Gillispie said his running regimen didn't even figure in his selection as a torchbearer. "They didn't ask about it or anything," he said.

What makes Randy run?

"I just like it," he said. "It's a good form of exercise. I run 3½ miles early in the morning and four or five at night. It's kind of a tension release."

And one of the reasons the torch relay is important to him is the donation to charity that made his participation possible. Selecting from among four charities, Gillispie asked that the money go to the Special Olympics.

"I'd gone to see it (the Special Olympics) twice, but I'd never gotten involved," he said. "I felt privileged to do something for the program. I felt it was important."

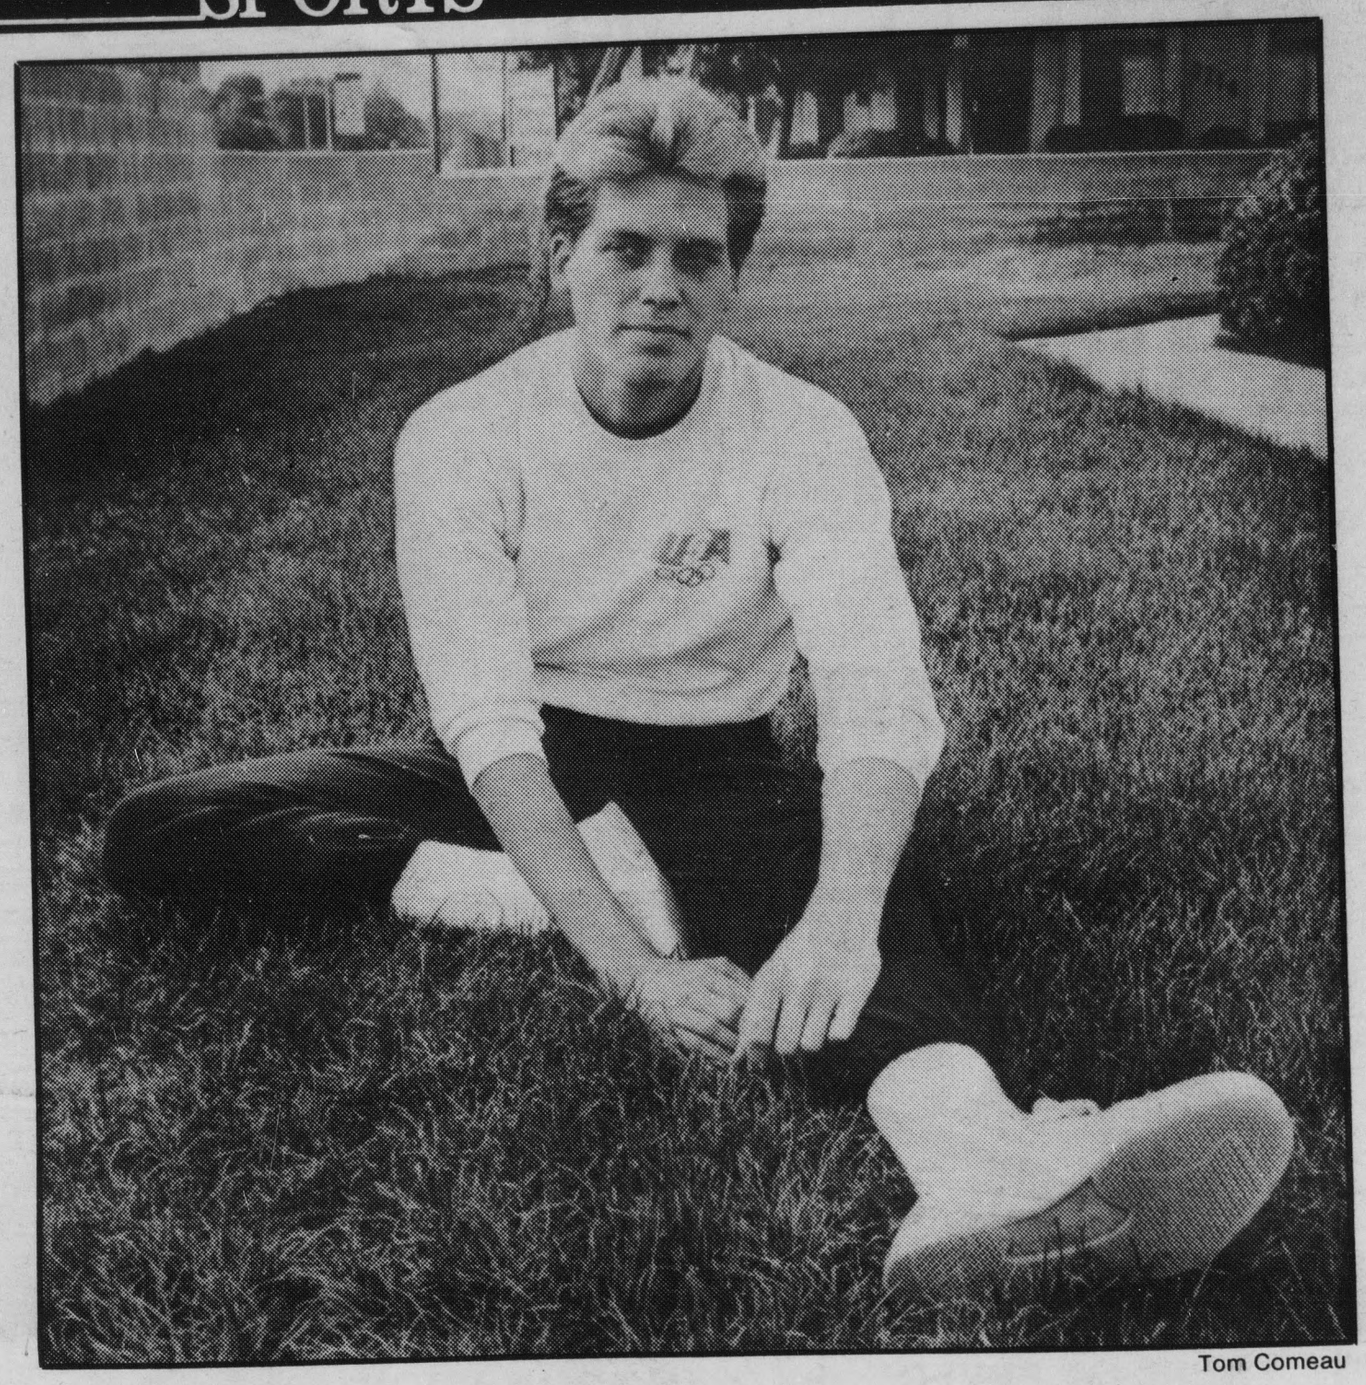

Although his torchbearing stint will be a big part of his life as a runner, the kilometer he runs will be less than a tenth of his normal workout. It ought to be no problem for a guy in as good a shape as Gillispie is.

"I hope it isn't," he said. "I've gotten jokes about catching my hair on fire or falling and breaking my leg, but I don't think it'll be a problem."

By now, the torch is probably somewhere between Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas, being carried by a runner who has never met Randy Gillispie and probably never will. But the two are on the same team.

And if things go according to schedule (no one catches his hair on fire or breaks his

Fillipi fulfills dream: signs baseball contract

What started as a suprise has turned into a dream-come-true for former Upland High School performer Jamie Fillipi.

"It was kind of a shock," admitted Fillipi, referring to being picked by the Chicago White Sox in the 12th round of the spring draft. "I just signed two nights ago (Sunday), and now I'm leaving this week to go to Sarasota to play rookie ball. I'm still excited about the whole thing."

A 1981 Upland graduate, Fillipe attended Florida International University this past season, where he tossed just 40 innings during the regular season. But that 40 innings was enough to prove his worth to the White Sox scouts.

Spotted originally by Walt Windmayer, one of Chicago's Florida area scouts, it was Windmayer and Southern California area scout Duane Schaffer that helped get Fillipe's signature on a White Sox contract.

Windmayer previously played a key role in the White Sox signing of pitchers Richard Dotson, Randy Niemann and Britt Burns.

"I didn't have a spectacular season, but the scouts said I showed enough that they wanted to take a shot on me. I never expected to go that high. I think they kinda overdrafted me to make sure they got me," laughed Fillipe.

In his 40 innings of work, the young right-hander struck out 45 and walked 17. He felt one of his best performances was a 5⅓-inning stint againt the rival University of Miami, during which he struck out 10 and walked six.

"It was a strange outing. I either struck out people or walked them," he explained. "We (Florida International University) started out really great this year. We went 30-10 and were the first team in the state to win 30 games. But then we opened a five-game series with Miami and lost all five. We wound up losing 14 of our last 19 to finish 35-24."

Fillipe, who enjoyed a 6-2 record his senior season with the Highlanders in '81, originally played for Cochise Junior College in Douglas, Az., when he got out of high school. He had actually registered to attend Cal State Fullerton, only to change his mind after talking with Cochise coach Michael Lane.

"A couple of other Upland guys, the Rodi brothers , had decided to go there. Coach Lane was here to look at someone else, but I threw a little while and then we talked. I just made up my mind to go there," remembered Fillipe. "It was a good experience. I wasn't sure what I really wanted. I was afraid I would get lost at Fullerton, and coach (Augie) Garrido didn't seem that intense about me. Instead I go to Douglas, the first time I'd really been away from home, and I learned a lot."

From there, Fillipi went to Florida International in the Miami area, only to see limited action due to the size of the FIU staff and some physical problems.

"From the time I got out of high school until now, I've been throwing almost three years straight," he said. "I guess that's had a lot to do with my tendonitus problems."

Now Fillipi reports to Chicago's rookie farm team, the Sarasota White Sox of the Gulf Coast League. Last season, Sarasota finished second in the Southern Division standings with a 38-24 record.

Fillipi's coach at Upland, Norm Rush, remembers him as one of the more refreshing players he'd coached.

"Jamie was a fine athlete," said Rush. "We

Pop Warner signups set

The second of three Upland Pop Warner registration sessions is set for Saturday at Magnolia Recreation Center from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Both boys and girls can register for action this fall. Boys from 8 to 14 weighing from 40 to 135 pounds can register to play on one of six Upland teams in the Mt. Baldy Conference.

Girls can register to become cheerleaders, but must be from 7 to 14.

A certified copy of a birth certificate or a current passport are the only documents that will be accepted as proof of age by Pop Warner officials. A current report card will also be required.

A registration deposit is also required.

The last registration session is July 14, the same time physical exams will be given. All registration must be done by that date, and there will be no exceptions.

JAAF seeks grid candidates

Young football players living in Upland are eligible to play Junior All American Football with the Ontario team next fall.

Boys ages 8 through 14 can register Saturday at one of five sites for play beginning in September. Among the sites is the Alpha Beta store at Fourth and Grove in Ontario.

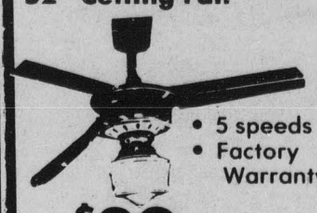

Other sites include Euclid and Frances, Grove and the Pomona Freeway and Euclid and Walnut in Ontario; the Gemco store at Central and the Pomona Freeway in Chino.

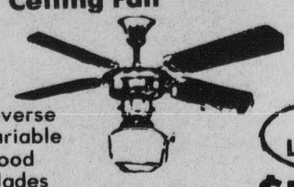

A fee of $55 per boy will be charged, which includes jerseies and a physical exam.

There are four classes — micro pee wees (8-9 years) weighing 55 to 80 pounds; junior pee wee (9-11), 60 to 95 pounds; pee wee (10-12), 110 pounds maximum, 90 for 13 year olds; midgets (11-13), 135 pounds tops, 110 for 14 year olds.

Additional information is available by calling 984-6541 or 986-3018.

Basketball nears end for season

Everyone thought the basketball season was over, culminating with game seven of the NBA Championship series Tuesday night. But for West Valley cage enthusiasts, there's one more game of note before closing the book on the 1983-84 campaign.

Saturday night some of the best local seniors will showcase their talents in the 11th Annual Pomona Valley High School All Star Basketball Game at the University of La Verne supertent.

Upland's Drew Bruckner (6-foot, 165), who averaged 13 points and six assists last season for the Highlanders, will be competing for the North All-Stars.

leg), the torch should get to Gillispie in about 38 days — after the torch has traveled more than 8,000 miles through 32 states.

The Olympic Flame will be headed for San Bernardino when Gillispie gets it. From there, it will go to San Diego, Camp Pendelton, Garden Grove, Long Beach and finally, on July 28, the Coliseum.

When the flame is lighted to signal the opening of the XXIIIrd Olympiad, Gillispie will experience a feeling few others will be privy to.

He and his fellow torchbearers will see history flickering and know they were a part of it.

Fillipi signs pact

used to call him Buck, after Buck Rogers, because he was kind of a space cadet. You know, the kind of kid that's on a different wave length from the rest of us.

"I haven't seen him pitch in a while, but he had a great arm while he was here," continued Rush. "I always said he had a picture-perfect wind-up. Just a super motion, great delivery, and a real nice curve for a high school pitcher. He was our ace as a senior. I've seen kids who could bring it faster —he was at about 82-85 mph back then — but very few better pitchers."

"I don't want any of this to stop," he said, admitting "it's been hectic, but it's been great, too. I'm confident about my abilities. I've been getting stronger every year. But I'll have to start setting up guys, not trying to just blow the fastbal by them.

"I've developed a pretty good curve, so I don't need to rely on the fastball," he explained. "I know the guys I'll be up against are good, but I have to keep telling myself that they're no better than me. I pitched against Miami and Stetson last year. It's not that I'm cocky, I don't want it to sound that way. I just know I have to show a certain amount of confidence."

Advertising Results!

We can put it all together for you and your business!

Some businesses don't advertise because they are puzzled. They don't know where to begin. Do they need an artist? Should they hire an ad agency? What's co-op about? Who sets the type?

If you are not now advertising but know that you really should be, then give us a call. Our ad department can do the complete job for you. We'll help you set a budget, decide what items will do best in an ad, help you locate and collect important co-op dollars, write hard-hitting copy, even supply you with art at no extra cost, and place your message before the people who really count... the thousands of readers who can be persuaded to become your customers!

Newspaper advertising is powerful. It really works and the cost is well within the budgets of most small businesses.

Just give us a call. We'll show you how effective newspaper advertising can ring your cash register. We'll get you results!

NOTICES OF PUBLIC HEARINGS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission of the City of Upland will hold a public hearing on Thursday, 28 June 1984, at 6:00 p.m., in the Council Chambers of the Upland City Hall, 460 N. Euclid Avenue, Upland, California 91786, to consider the following items:

GENERAL PLAN AMENDMENT NO. GPA-80(I) and ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT PUBLIC PROJECT REPORT NO. EAPPR-139 pertaining to the adoption of an amendment to The HOUSING ELEMENT of the General Plan of the City of Upland, and assessment of the potential environmental effects thereof.

The proposed amendment is an extension of the existing (adopted) Housing Element and includes:

1. An assessment of housing needs and other related characteristics.
2. An inventory of resources and constraints pertaining to housing supply.
3. A statement of the community's goals, quantified objectives and policies relative to the maintenance, improvement and development of housing.
4. An implementation program which sets forth a five-year schedule of actions which the local government is undertaking or intends to undertake to implement the policies and achieve the goals and objectives of the housing element.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT: The Environmental Review Board (ERB) has recommended that a MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION (3) be issued for the proposed project; i.e., a Negative Declaration conditioned upon mitigation of potential adverse effect perceived by implementation of mitigation measures as identified in EAPPR-88-B as adopted in conjunction with 1982 amendments to the Housing Elements of the General Plan (Ref.: EAPPR-139).

CONDITIONAL USE PERMIT NO. CUP-83-37 and ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT REPORT NO. EAR-611 to allow the establishment of a DANCE FLOOR of approximately 1,000 sq. ft., WITH LIVE ENTERTAINMENT as an accessory use within an existing game arcade in a "storefront" shop unit of about 5,000 sq. ft. gross floor area, located in the Upland commercial center in a "CH" (Highway Commercial) Zone, on property described as:

More generally described as 1238 W. Foothill Blvd.: An irregularly shaped area of approximately 5.66 acres, located at the south corner of Foothill Blvd. and Mountain Avenue.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT: The Environmental Review Board has determined that the proposed project does have the potential to expose people to excessive noise levels and to indirectly create adverse social affects upon its environs.

In the event substantial public concern is not expressed at the public hearing on this matter, a MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION (3) will be proposed to be issued for the project; i.e., a Negative Declaration conditioned upon mitigation of perceived adverse effects to levels of non-significance (Ref.: EAR-611).

VARIANCE NO. V-83-12/EAR-EXEMPT to allow a WAIVER from Section 9430.105.010 (Maximum Wall/Fence Height in Front Yard Setback) of the Upland Municipal Code (UMC) to permit a six (6) ft. high wrought iron fence to encroach twenty-five (25) ft. into the required twenty-five (25) ft. front yard setback of an interior lot, in an "RS-10" (Residential Single Family - 10,000 sq. ft. min. lot area/DU) Zone, on property described as:

More generally described as 872 Notre Dame: A rectangularly shaped area of approximately 10,023 sq. ft., having a frontage of about 78 ft. on the south side of Notre Dame, with a maximum depth of about 128.5 ft.; the east property line of said area being located about 166 ft. west of the Centerline of Albright Avenue.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT: This project has been determined to be CATEGORICALLY EXEMPT (2) from environmental proceedings pursuant to Article III, Section 10, Class 5 (a) of the City Environmental Guidelines.

This public hearing will be conducted pursuant to the provisions of Part IV - Zoning Regulations, and Part V - Subdivision Regulations, Article IX of the Upland Municipal Code and Sections 65500-65800 of the Government Code and Section 66451.3 of the Subdivision Map Act of the State of California.

All maps, environmental findings and other data pertinent to these proposals may be inspected at the Planning Department prior to the public hearings. All persons interested in any of these proposals are invited to attend said public hearings and express their opinions for or against any of the proposed projects.

/s/GENE W. YOUNG, Secretary
UPLAND PLANNING COMMISSION

(1) The issuance of a NEGATIVE DECLARATION means that the City, after the conduct of an initial study and in compliance with provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), has found that the proposed project would not have a significant adverse effect on the environment.
(2) The determination of a CATEGORICAL EXEMPTION means that the project has been found to be exempt from the requirements of preparing a Negative Declaration or an EIR even though the proposed project is discretionary in nature, as more particularly described in the California Environmental Quality Act.
(3) The issuance of a MITIGATED or CONDITIONAL NEGATIVE DECLARATION means that the City, after the conduct of an initial study and in compliance with the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), has found that a project or activity does have the potential to have a significant effect on its surroundings, but that such effect(s) may be reduced to non-significant levels by the implementation of appropriate mitigation measures.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON A PROPOSED REDEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE ARROW-BENSON REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT OF THE UPLAND COMMUNITY REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY AND AN ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT RELATED THERETO AND OF THE ADOPTION AND AVAILABILITY FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION OF RULES IMPLEMENTING OWNER PARTICIPATION IN CONNECTION WITH SAID PROPOSED PLAN AND EXTENDING REASONABLE PREFERENCE TO PERSONS IN BUSINESS IN THE PROPOSED REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT AREA TO RE-ENTER IN BUSINESS WITHIN THE REDEVELOPED AREA.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at 7:00 p.m. on July 2, 1984, at the Council Chambers of Upland City Hall, 460 North Euclid Avenue, Upland, California, a joint public hearing of the Council of the City of Upland and the Upland Community Redevelopment Agency will be held to consider a proposed redevelopment plan for the proposed Arrow-Benson Project Area within the City of Upland, the specific boundaries of which are set forth on Appendix "1" attached hereto.

Generally, the scope and objectives of said proposed redevelopment plan are as follows:

The Redevelopment Plan for the Arrow-Benson Project Area of the Upland Community Redevelopment Agency was prepared by said Agency and is in conformance to the General Plan of the City of Upland and all applicable federal, state and local laws and ordinances. The plan is based upon the Preliminary Plan for that area adopted by the Planning Commission of the City of Upland. The project covered by the plan, including streets, consists of approximately 30 acres. The objective of the plan is to eliminate blighting conditions in the project area by providing public services and facilities, specifically storm drains, sewer improvements and traffic and circulation improvements.

The plan describes and depicts the project area, delineates redevelopment objectives and actions proposed for implementation thereof and delineates proposed public improvements. In addition, the plan covers methods for financing the project.

Any and all persons having any objections to said proposed redevelopment plan or who deny the existence of blight in the proposed project area, or the regularity of any of the prior proceedings, may appear before the Council of the City of Upland at the time, date and place set forth herein and show cause why said proposed redevelopment plan should not be adopted.

Notice also is given hereby that the Redevelopment Agency and the City Council will conduct a public hearing on an environmental impact report on the subject of said redevelopment plan at the time, date and place set forth above. Draft copies of said environmental impact report now are available at the City Clerk's offices, Upland City Hall, 460 North Euclid Avenue, Upland, California.

Notice is also given hereby that the Upland Community Redevelopment Agency has adopted rules to implement the operation of owner participation in connection with said proposed redevelopment plan and extending reasonable preference to persons in business within the redeveloped area and that said rules are available for public inspection at the City Clerk's offices, Upland City Hall, 460 North Euclid Avenue, Upland, California.
